Nifty to continue up-trend followed by Consolidation Phase -
Trend followed by Range-bound trading journey!

June 2020 Performance Outlook

Our heading for the report of June was “Nifty will breach April month high, positive trends on our charts”. As accurate as the heading, markets ended with the levels of 9580 and created the top of 10529. It returned about 980 points which we had predicted accurately through time theory. The market gave whopping returns of 10% and we could see a positive trend in the same month

We offered extreme clarity regarding the dual phase and date range, once again proving beyond doubt that we have the capability to indicate precise market trends with precise timelines much in advance with almost 100% accuracy.

This month saw two major announcements for Covid - 19 Drugs from Glenmark Pharma - allopathy medicine and from Patanjali - Ayurvedic medicine. We had expected this news previously in our June newsletter, looking forward to the announcements in the coming days.

Time Theory Astro Outlook for July 2020

A huge consolidation of planetary combinations in one place with many complexities has been created by the planets this month. As per the Astro- cycles and Time Theory, the market will continue uptrend from 1st July itself. We also expect the range-bound journey to start after 17 July.

The Astro-cycles suggest high tension on the geopolitical level will keep persisting. This month will see the peak of border tension on the ground and it will take time to resolve.

According to our charts, The trading range will perform well and Nifty will create the top for a few months. We will see a continuous rally in Nifty till 7th July and sluggish movement after that. In third week, certain days - specially 16-17 are positive which can pull the levels upward, then cycle will turn to range-bound. Nifty will form the upside trend line and keep moving continuously at a good pace but will slow down from second week onwards

Time Theory Astro Outlook for July 2020

There are certain key dates after which the pace may get slower and range bound journey will start. After 7th, the cycling pace will get slow but will keep inching upwards and as per my studies. It should top around 15th-17th July for the month.

Mercury is turning in transit and Sun will change the zodiac, both the planets will have an impact on the cycles. After 15th July, there will be a certain trading pattern that will start in which the market will specifically have Gap up or Gap down and then the trend will reverse.

Market Trends – Important Dates

July 1st – 3rd:

Majority days will see a positive trend.

July 6th – 10th:

Majority days will see a positive trend.

July 13th – 17th:

Market trend should return to stability and start having a final positive upward trend.

Market Trends – Important Dates

July 20th – 24th:

Nifty will start the range-bound journey.

July 27th - 31st:

Continuation of the range-bound journey.

July 31st:

Time Theory Predictions for Crude and Currency

An increase will be seen in the crude levels and prices will soar upwards. We shall notice a good movement in the currency levels as well. The trend will develop from the 2 July it will continue till 13 July and then will reverse.

We are expecting announcements in this sector in the coming days.

Expert Recommendations

We advise our traders to stay short till 13th July, daily basis market will give good opportunity as well, and continue booking profits at important levels. After that the market may stay in range so, we recommend following range strategies to yield higher returns.
