October To witness some relief, Amidst Some Rough Patches

Our prediction for the month of September has once again proved to be extremely accurate and right on target. We clearly indicated the date range of 3 - 5 September where the bulls will take a break and that is exactly what the market experienced.

Market witnessed a high of 11751 and exactly as predicted, September 3 saw a fall in the levels. Amidst heavy profit booking and steep fall in levels, market created the bottom of 10880. We have once again proven beyond doubt that our forecasts are accurate and continue to provide great benefit to our subscribers.

The crippled infra lender and engineering group IL&FS had left investors into deep distress, which lead to sell off. Astro cycles indicates in this month there will be some sign of relief which will help the Nifty to have bounce back for short term.

There is also a massive change in planetary cycles which will now extend the support to finance sector and will prevent the further erosion of net worth of investors. This major transition is impacting specially the finance sector which also brings the transformation and changes of Law.

Astro Outlook for the Month of October 2018

The month of October will start on a weak note and immediately after expiry will go through a phase of correction in levels during the initial days of the month. There will be negative sentiments and a sense of panic and despair among investors, however, as per my calculation Nifty will witness a stop in its fall btw 10-20 October.

After going through panic selling and negative sentiments, market will experience a bounce back. Specific dates of these trends with detailed day wise forecast will be listed in our weekly reports for this month.

Our charts indicate the market to behave normal however, there are indications of the return of some weak trends in the last week of the month.

Based on the planetary positions and its indications, October will witness some big planetary transitions. From this month onwards, we can look forward to new leaders emerging, which will give the market the required thrust, direction and support to the markets. Though the growth will be very gradual. However, it is not going to be all smooth sailing. Be prepared for phases of some rough patches (exact time lines and detailed indications will be circulated through our weekly report).

Given the market trends, this will be an excellent opportunity for subscribers to enter into certain specific market sectors (refer to our Astro Sectorial Analysis Report 2018 – 2019 for sector wise predictions) as advantage can be taken of choosing appropriate picks while they are at their bottom.

* We have published our Astro Sectorial Analysis Report 2018 – 2019 and will be circulated to our subscribers within this month. The detailed analysis of each sector contained in the report will provide the trend forecast for varied sectorial picks.

Important Dates in October

29 October: Key Bullish Day

04 October: Key Bearish Day

Expert Recommendations

We advise our subscribers to undertake short term trading* as there is no clear trend visible for Nifty in the month of October. Markets will experience movements of bounce backs as well as correction in levels in this month.

* Please refer to our weekly reports for detailed indications and recommendations to assist with short term trading.
